Who I am:

My name is Chemutai Marindany Lilian and I am passionate about continuous learning and personal growth. I value integrity, empathy and perseverance. Believing in these principles guides me to live a meaningful and impactful life. My dream includes; making a positive difference in my community, pursuing a fulfilling career that challenges and inspires me, and fostering strong relationships with those around me. I strive to approach every day with curiosity and kindness, aiming to leave the world a little better than I found it.

At the end of the my FLEP Coop mentorship this is what I wish to have achieved:

- Expanding professional networks with other women.
- Continuously develop my leadership skills.
- Sharing my mentorship experiences and insights with other female leaders and fight for gender inclusivity.
- Be able to reflect on my personal growth throughout the mentorship program.

My leadership aspirations in the co-operative sector are:

My aspiration for leadership in the co-operative sector is rooted in commitment to community empowerment and sustainable development. My goal is to create a co-operative model that serves as a benchmark for inclusivity, transparency and long-term success, contributing to an equitable and sustainable future.

These are my most prevailing challenges I experience in co-operatives:

- Governance Issues
- Regulatory and policy barriers
- Cultural and social factors

This is why I want to be a leader in the co-operative space:

I want to drive sustainable business that not only benefits just members, but also the wider community and environment. I also want to build strong relationships with members. Lastly, I want to promote opportunities that promote fairness and equality.
